

TAILOR DAVIS MAKES TALK

TELLS HIS STORY
TO THE JOURNAL.

Says He is Being Maliciously Persecuted by Envious Competitors—Business Was Attached.

N. Davis, the tailor in the Manning block, who has been having all kinds of trouble lately in one form and another, told his story to the Journal yesterday, which is substantially as follows:

"Several weeks ago," says Mr. Davis. "I received a letter from a young fellow named Jacobson, in San Francisco, who at one time worked for me, stating that he was broke and in need of money and that he would like to work for me again, if I would send him money or a ticket to come here on. I also received several other letters from him begging me to send for him. I finally did send for him after making an arrangement with him to solicit orders for me. When he arrived here he was so poorly clothed that I could not send him out to work for me until I had bought him some new clothes and shoes and made him presentable. He then went to several places where I had already worked up a good business and took a number of orders. In all he took orders amounting about $145, of which sum I received $107.50. I found that many of the orders had been taken in such a way that I could not tell who the goods were for nor anything about it, and most of his work had to be done over again. I paid him all the money he ever earned and more than he earned.

"Now he has brought suit against me for $65 which he claims I owe and yesterday he had an attachment levied on my business. I have made arrangements to have the attachment removed this evening. I feel that I am being persecuted by envious competitors who are jealous of the business I am doing. But they will find me a bad one to down. I will be found right here doing business every day in the week, and doing more business than some of the people who are trying to do me up."

Jacobson, the man who has brought suit for money he claims to be due him as commissions on orders for clothing taken by him, told the Journal that he could not get a settlement out of Davis and had to resort to the law.

D. Leishman is attorney for Jacobson and Frank Norcross will appear for Davis. The case promises to be interesting.

RICH ORE AT ALPINE

Quartz Which Assays $300 Per Ton and Upwards

Matt Robertson of Tonopah was in town Sunday, returning Monday.

He says that ore is being taken out of the Alpine mine now which assays $3000 and upwards to the ton. The ore is being shipped to Salt Lake.

A very important strike has also been made in the Paymaster.

Thus every day it becomes more evident that the claims that have been made for Tonopah have not been exaggerated, and it is destined to become the most wonderful camp in the world.

Big Time at Bowers Mansion

One of the most enjoyable parties of the season was that given by Henry Ritter at Bowers Mansion Sunday. A large crowd of Henry's friends from Reno were there and they are all loud in their praises of his generous hospitality and the fine manner in which he entertained them.

There was everything that could be thought of to make the folk comfortable and give them a good time, and the guests enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

John Driver, the popular clerk at the Co-Op store, and Robert Fraser, drove over to Virginia City Saturday evening, returning Sunday. The boys say they had an enjoyable time and admired the scenery and the relics of former glories, immensely.

CAN BE NO THIRD TERM

OLD RESOLUTION
HAS BEEN FOUND.

Former Journal Clerk Has Dug Up a Resolution Passed by the Forty-fourth Congress.

Harry Smith, formerly journal clerk of the house of representatives, has dug up the following anti third term resolutions. Mr. Smith says:

I have seen no reference to the anti third term resolution adopted by the house of representatives on December 15, 1875 (first session, forty-fourth congress). That resolution submitted by Mr. Springer of Illinois and adopted by the overwhelming vote of yeas 223, nays 18 and not voting 28, is as follows:

"Resolved, That in the opening of this house the precedent established by Washington and other presidents of the United States in retiring from the presidential office after their second term has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our republican system of government and that any departure from this time honored custom would be unwelcome, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

The affirmative was composed of 162 democrats and 61 republicans, while the negative vote was entirely republican, mostly southern, but eight northern republicans—Bradley and Hubbell of Michigan, McDougall of New York, Denison of Vermont, Page of California, Plaisted of Maine, Pratt of Iowa and Whiting of Illinois—voting nay.

Among the republicans voting yea were Garfield, Foster, Frye and Hale of Maine, Hoar, Pierce, Crape, Harris and Seelye of Massachusetts, Kelley, O'Neill, Facker and Smith of Pennsylvania, Kasson, McCrary and James Wilson of Iowa, Conger, Waldron, Willard and Williams of Michigan and Baker and Hunter of Indiana. Among the republicans not voting were Messrs. Banks, Blaine, Cannon, Farwell, Hurlbut, Platt of New York, Rusk and Hendee of Vermont.

That resolution was aimed at president Grant, whose closest friends were then working up a sentiment for a third term for him. This met the combined opposition of the friends of Blaine, Brewster, Conkling, Hayes and Morton, and the eighteen negative votes fairly represented the Grant sentiment among the republican members of the house.

FOUND DEAD IN A DITCH

UNKNOWN CORPSE
FLOATING IN WATER.

Stream That Flows Through the City's Limits Bears a Growsome Burden—Foul Play Suspected.

Sunday afternoon the asylum ditch tender found the body of a dead man floating in the water of the ditch a short distance from the town. The coroner was notified at once and the body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Perkins & Oliver on Sierra street.

There were no papers or other articles found on the body by which it could be identified. The body bore unmistakable evidences of foul play as the head and face had been bruised and beaten into an unrecognizable mass, and, although the coroner's inquest will not be held until some time today, it is the opinion of everyone who saw the corpse that the man had been murdered.

The coroner has given out the following description of the man, by which he may possibly be identified: Age about 45; five feet five inches tall; medium stout; weight about 160 pounds; black hair, brown eyes and short brown mustache. The body was dressed in a canvass coat, blue overalls and gray cotton shirt.

The general opinion is that the man was some laborer or country man who had come to town with some money to spend; that he had become intoxicated and had gone into the tenderloin district, which is infested with the worst kind of thugs and cutthroats, that he had there been robbed and murdered and the body thrown into the ditch which flows through that portion of the town.

When discovered the body gave evidence of having been in the water several days and was in an advanced state of decomposition.

A coroner's jury was impaneled today which viewed the body, after which the body was interred as it was impossible to preserve it any longer. At the inquest today all the evidence possible to obtain will be heard and a verdict rendered.

"THE OCTORON" PLAYED

HOME TALENT GIVES
EXCELLENT RENDITION.

A Very Small Audience Given an Evening of Pleasure—Work Equal to That of Professionals.

A very small audience witnessed the rendition of "The Octoron" last evening in McKissack's opera house. This was very disappointing to the members of the cast who gave the presentation for the benefit of the Reno Aerie of Eagles. Several weeks ago the play was produced before a large audience, which was so pleased that a general demand was made for its reproduction.

The same cast held the boards as in the previous rendition and their portrayal of the parts was finished.

F. V. Mershon was director and his professional training and experience was in a large measure the reason for the excellent work of the players.

Miss Bee Brownlee in the title role was the bright, particular star. Every member of the cast deserves individual mention, but particular credit seems to be due to Frank B. Wilkin and King Ryan. The duel between the Mershon brothers called forth applause, as did the beautiful tableau at the fall of the curtain. Miss Ora Gills song was well received.

THAT SPUR TRACK.

City Council Had a Busy Session Last Night.

At the meeting of the city council last night the matter of granting the N-C-O company the right to lay a spur track over Fifth and Alameda streets to the fair grounds was the principal business transacted.

Attorney Frank Norcross, representing the Wheelmen's club, presented a resolution which was in effect a request that the council grant the N-C-O company a franchise over the streets named for a period of ten years for the sum of one dollar a year. City Attorney Williams expressed the opinion that the grant could not be made in accordance with the law, and asked that the council take further time to allow him to thoroughly investigate the law in the premises. After considerable discussion a motion was made and carried that the railroad be requested to present a proposition, in writing, to the council clearly defining exactly what it wanted and what it proposed to do if the franchise were granted. The council then took a recess until this morning.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BROWN

A Long Cortege Follows the Remains to the Grave.

One of the most impressive funeral ceremonies ever witnessed in Reno was that which took place yesterday when the body of Mrs. Frances Brown was consigned to earth.

Services took place at the home of the deceased's mother, Mrs. J. Burris. The cortege was a long one, consisting of fifty carriages and extending over three blocks. The Wheelmen's band headed the procession and played sad dirges.

Rev. Dr. Phelps conducted the ceremonies at the grave in the Masonic cemetery. The grave was lined with flowers and even the earth that had been removed was covered with white roses. The sympathies of the community are with the husband, Abe Brown, and the other relatives of the deceased.

Yesterday's Track Tryout

A strong wind yesterday morning at the race track kept some of the members of the Wheelmen's club from making as good records as they probably would have done, but the riding was good and showed that the team is going to be a crack-a-jack and bad to beat.

The ten men who will form the relay team that will race the Reliance club of San Francisco next Sunday, will be picked from among the following:

Geo. Kohnmeyer, Will Hart, Joe Johnson, Art Peckham, W. McGinnis, D. H. Updike, Will Kohnmeyer, Grant Johnson, A. Carter, "Ole" Peckham, W. McKenzie, "Jap" Hart, Claude Mershon, L. Barber and G. Dubois.

RICH ORE FOUND

Gold Quartz Which Assays From $500 to $1,000 to the Ton in Ledge 1,800 Feet Wide.

M. H. Seely has on exhibition at Simon's assay office and at Harry Clark's Original Package some remarkably fine specimens of gold ore from the property near Oasis, Cal., recently bonded by him from the original locators, T. G. Price and son, says the Miner.

The property consists of five claims, on which there is a well-defined ledge, traceable for 1,800 feet on the surface. This ledge has been opened up in one place to the depth of thirty feet, at which point there is from eighteen inches to four feet of ore assaying from $500 to $1,000 a ton. Mr. Seely brought back with him a number of large pieces of ore weighing from fifty to ninety pounds.

It is a lively quartz, impregnated with iron oxide and showing numerous specks of free gold, many samples being reported to go a dollar a pound. The ground surrounding the new discovery is nearly all located. Harry Clark and W. J. Stoneham own the adjoining claims on the trend of the ledge.

Mr. Seely left for Chicago last night to make arrangements for the erection of a mill to reduce the rich ore from his newly acquired property.

There is an abundance of wood on the ground and water power can be developed at slight expense within five miles of the discovery.

Shot Clay Pigeons

An interesting blue rock shoot took place Sunday at Virginia, between the local club and the Reno Gun club. The shoot resulted in a score of 127 to 97 in favor of Virginia.

The Reno boys say they had a swell time in spite of their defeat and they have decided to attend the Carnival in a body.

THE STATE BOND MATTER

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAKES EXPLANATION.

A Complete Statement of Facts and Reasons Which Governed the Recent Bond Transaction.

To the Public—The State Board of Education, having completed the sale of United States bonds which fell due in 1907, now makes a full statement of the facts and reasons which have governed them in this transaction for the information of the people.

History

It will be well in the first place to give a brief history of the bond transaction from the beginning until the completion of the sale. About two years since, Governor Sadler advocated the sale of the United States bonds due 1907, then in the Treasury, and the purchase of United States Government bonds maturing in 1925. He showed, and we think clearly, that the State of Nevada would benefit very much by the exchange. The State Board, not being acquainted with the details of the financial operations, hesitated until too late about accepting the recommendation of Governor Sadler.

During the past winter the attention of the State Board of Education was called to the necessity of making an investment of the public school funds at once or losing the benefits by depreciation of the bonds and a lower rate of interest that would follow. The members of the committees on Education of the Senate and House were called into the governor's office to confer about the matter. No definite action was taken by the members of the House; but they agreed that if the Mass. bonds were found to be valid bonds, the exchange of the U. S. bonds for the Mass. bonds seemed to be a good and advantageous exchange for the benefit of the public school fund of the State. Two members of the Board, keeping in mind the recommendation of Governor Sadler some two years ago, were in favor of making the exchange of bonds according to the offer of Messrs. Kelly & Kelly, of Topeka, Kansas, but the governor was unwilling to engage in the transaction with the amount of knowledge that he then had. Correspondence was entered into with the Treasurer of Massachusetts, the Chemical National Bank of New York, the First National Bank of Chicago and two or three other banks respecting the value of these bonds. Letters from these various banks gave indubitable evidence that the bonds were regularly issued and were a valuable investment. During this inquiry the fact was brought out that the Massachusetts State bonds had been accepted by the United States Government as deposits in the Treasury in place of United States bonds, thus showing the esteem in which the United States Government held these bonds. Although this evidence seemed to place the transaction beyond question, the governor requested a member of the Board to go to Chicago, Washington and Boston and inquire as to the value of the Massachusetts bonds before he was willing to take any steps toward their purchase. The members of the Board left home immediately at the governor's request and advised with the officers of the First National Bank of Chicago, with the Assistant Treasurer at Washington and with the Treasurer of Massachusetts at Boston. The value of the Massachusetts bonds was established beyond question and the fact telegraphed to Governor Sparks.

The Law

The powers of the Board of Education have been called in question. The statute which applies to the investment of funds is found in Section 1337 of Cutting's Revised Statutes. It is provided first, that in no case shall any bonds be purchased without the State Board of Education making due and diligent inquiry as to the financial standing and responsibility of the state or states whose bonds it is proposed to purchase.

It is very clear that the State Board of Education complied with the provisions of the statute and made the fullest inquiry into the financial standing of the state, satisfying itself that the bonds were a safe and valuable investment.

2. The statute says that the Board of Education shall require of the Attorney-General of this State his legal opinion as to the validity of any Act or Acts of any State in which State bonds are issued.

In accordance therewith, the Board of Education consulted with the attorney-general at every step and obtained his legal opinion that the Acts on which these bonds were issued were valid.

3. The Act says that the Board of Education shall direct the State Treasurer to negotiate for investment of a sum in United States securities or in the bonds of this state or in the bonds of other states at the lowest purchasable price.

The State Board of Education did so direct the Treasurer and made an exchange of bonds which will result in keeping the public school fund unimpaired and will increase the rate of interest as is shown in the concluding portion of this statement.

The Value of the Massachusetts Bonds
The first and only question to be considered is this: Are the Massachusetts bonds a good and safe investment? If they are a good and safe investment no further question can be raised against them. The State of Massachusetts is not only one of the oldest but is one of the richest states in the Union. It is furthermore very conservative in its financial operations. Its bonds are held in esteem by states and individuals who desire a safe and good investment. The Massachusetts bonds which are now held in the State Treasury have not only a good standing in the money market, but similar bonds are held by the States of the West and Northwest to the amount, in one case, of over two millions of dollars, as an investment for their public school fund. United States bonds are no longer a profitable investment. The interest upon United States bonds does not net to exceed 1.81 per cent per annum, while the Massachusetts bonds net the State of Nevada 3 per cent per annum. The result of this increase of earnings for the public school fund will be appreciated when the semi-annual dividend is apportioned to the public schools of the state.

The payment of the Massachusetts bonds is provided for by a sinking fund which is created when the bonds are issued. A sinking fund tax levied each year is calculated at a rate that will pay into the sinking fund sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds regularly and provide for the payment of the bonds at maturity.

The total taxable property of the commonwealth of Massachusetts as per last published statement by the Secretary of the commonwealth and the tax commissioner was as follows:

Taxable real estate	$2,434,898,295 00
Taxable personal estate	1,673,442,218 00

Total taxable property $4,108,340,513 00

Thus it is seen that the total taxable valuation affords a satisfactory basis for the issuance of the Massachusetts State bonds for their direct and indirect debt.

The management of the State School Fund is a sacred trust which the State Board of Education both recognizes and obeys. Every dollar of this fund is to be guarded and invested with care and fidelity. We can say that every dollar of this fund has been guarded and invested with an eye single to the welfare of the public school fund of the state.

Perhaps we can do no better than quote from the message of Governor Sadler to the Legislature of 1901:

"The value of the United States bonds as quoted in the market is as follows: $685,000.00 of the issue of 1907 at 116 makes them worth $794,600.00. The high premium on the United States bonds has the effect of very materially reducing the profits of these investments. The late purchases have been made at a rate of about 134, yielding net interest of about 2 per cent per annum. Then in recommending that no further tax be loaned for redemption purposes, Governor Sadler goes on to say: 'Why should the taxpayers of the state tax themselves to pay off their own bonds drawing 4 per cent interest and turn the amount into United States bonds producing only 2 per cent or less?'"

We make this statement to the taxpayers of the state because they are interested in every transaction which increases their income and lightens their burdens. This is the case with this bond transaction. Increased principal and interest, permanent and safe investment in the Massachusetts bonds makes up the whole story, and the transaction has the approval of all who are sincerely interested in the welfare of the state. On the part of the State Board of Education it was carried on with regard to the interests of the state and the state only, whose servant the State Board of Education is.

To make plain the urgent necessity for action by the Board it is necessary to take a review of the results of the operations of the investment by the state in U. S. 4 per cent bonds maturing July 1, 1907.

Those bonds were purchased by the state at various times and at different rates as the market ruled at the time of the investment. The highest rate paid was 122 7-8 and the lowest between 107 and 108. From the highest rate paid there has been a constant and gradual reduction in the market price of the bonds, fluctuations have been in evidence, but the natural tendency by reason of the near approach to maturity has always been downward.

As before stated in the governor's message to the legislature in 1901, the bonds were worth in the market 116, and $685,000 in bonds were worth $794,600 00

After holding the bonds two years they were 110, and value reduced to 735,500 00

Showing a depreciation in two years of 41,100 00
Interest collected during two years 4 per cent per annum 54,800 00
Deduct depreciation in value 41,100 00

We have a net profit, amounting to 1 per cent per annum 13,700 00

This showing that the state has collected 8 per cent in interest in the last two years and has lost 6 per cent by depreciation was sufficient to arouse the board to a realization of the fact that a premium of 10 per cent amounting to $68,500 was still pending and must be registered as a total loss unless realized on in some manner within less than four years time.

Being restricted by the Constitution of the State to investments in "bonds of the United States of the Union," the Board has few opportunities of relief.

The State of Massachusetts had bonds outstanding that could be purchased, and a few Southern states were in like condition, which, at the beginning, were the only investments offered.

The Treasurer of the United States at a late date made a call inviting the surrender of United States 4's, 1907, for a new issue of U. S. bonds bearing 2 per cent per annum, which were in the national banks, very desirable, but for a purely interest investment, such as the state could only make, was not to be considered except as a last resort.

After having sustained a loss during the last two years of $41,100 in value, and with a further loss of $68,500 impending at the end of three years and nine months in case the bonds should be held, the board came to the conclusion that it would not only be unwise, but actually criminal to permit a continuance of such policy, if a remedy could be found.

Upon thorough investigation as above set forth, the board decided to exchange the State's Governments of 1907 for Massachusetts bonds, the condition being as follows:

First investment $500,000.00.

In the demonstration of the transaction we will suppose that all premiums paid on Massachusetts bonds will be lost July 1, 1907, and knowing positively that all premiums now on our government's must cease same date, we will still have at the time named:

However we have no reason to believe that the Massachusetts will depreciate, as they have a life of 36 years at a rate of 1 per cent better interest than any government loan offered, which will be hereafter shown by financiers whose qualifications cannot be doubted. The interest adjustment cuts no figure because the state had collected on the U. S. bonds up to the last of April, and the accrued interest settled in coin will be on the 1st of July next, money in the Treasury. All events considered in the worst possible light the state cannot lose but $12,082.50 of the principal in the next 36 years, and can lose that before three years and nine months and still have $22,412.50 the best of the exchange.

Due.....132 00

The second investment will bear the same explanation as the first, relatively less by reason of a higher rate of premium, although a higher rate of interest and as a permanent investment will prove equally advantageous. The board exchanged $185,000 in government 4 per cent of 1907 at 111% for Massachusetts 3 1/2 per cent at 107% and received, besides the allowance of interest, coin amounting to $1553.78, making the same comparative statement as before, we arrive at the following result:

Massachusetts 3 1/2 per cent.....$189,000 00
Cash to balance bond values.....1,553 00
Three years and nine months interest.....24,506 25
$215,059 25

Government 4 per cent same time.....$185,000 00 Interest three years and nine months.....27,750 00
$212,750 00
$2,099 25

This shows a gain of $25,021.75 on the two transactions up to July 1, 1907, over the former investment.

The question now arises as to the results to be obtained by the exchange after July 1, 1907. We know that under the Constitution of this State, investment of our school funds has been wisely limited, the evident object having been to secure absolute security without hazard of speculation. There was presented to the board but three alternatives: Hold the U. S. bonds on hand to maturity and lose 10 per cent to 11%; invest in governments as now offered at 2 per cent, or accept investments in the bonds of other states.

Believing that as long as a government of the United States exists the State of Massachusetts will continue to be one of the leading states of the Union both in wealth and power, the board after the most deliberate consideration decided, as far as possible, to stop the further loss by depreciation.

tion, and invest the funds in Massachusetts bonds at 1 per cent better interest than can be obtained from the government.

The query naturally arises, why should the government bonds be so much more highly esteemed as an investment than the bonds of the State of Massachusetts? The answer is plain. Government bonds are the only basis of national banks. If a banking corporation desires to enter business, 2 per cent net interest earning bonds can be deposited with the government and the depositor receive the interest with a low tax thereon, and an equal amount in national bank notes returned, which constitutes business capital to them in addition to the interest received on the bonds, but the State of Massachusetts bonds cannot be so used, neither can the State of Nevada go into the banking business and secure the benefit.

Massachusetts State bonds are taxable in the hands of private individuals, but in the hands of the State of Nevada are not assessable. This places Massachusetts bonds on a higher interest than United States bonds, in so far as the State of Nevada is concerned.

The next query is, why should the State of Massachusetts be selling bonds? With a taxable property assessed at nearly five billion dollars. This is explained upon the authority of that state, which provides that cities and municipalities desiring to construct water works, sewerage or parks, etc., when not possessed of the necessary funds without borrowing, shall apply to the state and upon such application and good reason given, the state accepts security offered by the city and issues bonds full and complete for the amount needed and by such means bonds go upon the market at a greatly reduced rate of interest, by reason of the better standing the state has over any town or city, this not only increases the value of the town and city property but gives increased revenue to the state.

TREASURY DEP'T.
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, Feb. 12, 1903

Hon. John Sparks,
Governor of Nevada,
Carson City, Nevada.

Sir:—
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th inst. relative to the receipt of this Department, of Massachusetts State bonds, Metropolitan Water Loan and Metropolitan Park bonds, as security for public deposits, and inform you, as requested, that it appears from the records that Massachusetts State bonds were received in substitution for U. S. bonds held to secure deposits which were withdrawn to secure additional circulation under the provisions of Department circular of October 1, 1902, copy enclosed, in amounts as follows:

Massachusetts Park Loan, $315,000.00
Massachusetts Water Loan 1,363,000.00
These bonds were exchanged on a basis of 75 per cent, that is, the Department for every $100,000.00 state or municipal bonds received, released $75,000 U. S. bonds held to secure public deposits and transferred them to secure additional circulation. The circular of October 1, 1902, was revoked by circular of November 7, 1902, also enclosed.

Respectfully,
Signed: L. M. SHAW,
Secretary.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Office of the Attorney-General,
Boston, February 28, 1903.

The Honorable Jonathan Sparks,
Governor of the State of Nevada,
Carson City, Nevada.

Dear Sir:—
I take great pleasure in sending to you under another cover, certified copies of the sections of the Acts establishing the Metropolitan Water and Metropolitan Park Loans, together with copies of the latest compilations of the statutes of this commonwealth, relating to the Metropolitan Park and Metropolitan Water systems.

With regard to your other inquiries I beg to quote from a letter from the Treasurer of this commonwealth, addressed to me under date of February 25th: "The inquiry as regards the market value of the bonds it would be difficult to definitely answer. The last quotation of which we have any knowledge, offered Massachusetts bonds on a 2.05 per cent income basis. As regards interest on all Massachusetts loans, it is unnecessary to state that the same is paid promptly when due."

I trust that this information will serve your purpose, but if it is insufficient, I shall be very happy to make further inquiries.

Very truly yours,
Signed: HERBERT PARKER,
Attorney-General.

The National City Bank
of New York,
New York, April 8, 1903

Dear Sir:—

The resumption of refunding on April 1st by the Secretary of the Treasury, resulted in a sharp advance in the market price of government 4 per cent bonds of 1907. Today's quotation marks an advance of over 2 1/2 per cent since refunding was resumed, and carries the price to a point where the bonds return an income on the investment of but 1 1/5 per cent. While a $1000 bond can be sold today for about $1150, the government will redeem it in about four years at par, and that premium be lost to the holder who carries it to maturity. The bonds never before have sold at so high a price as would result in this low income return. There are more than $233,000,000 of those bonds outstanding, nearly all of which are in the hands of investors, and it is not reasonable to suppose that this abnormal price can be maintained after returning ceases.

We beg the liberty of asking, in view of the unusually favorable opportunity, if you do not desire to sell your holding. Should you prefer to keep your funds invested in United States government securities, you can buy the 4 per cent bonds of 1925 on a basis which will net you 2 per cent income, as against less than 1 1/4 per cent upon your present holding.

From an investor's point of view we advise prompt action in taking advantage of the present market. Should you desire to sell or to exchange your bonds for 4 per cent bonds of 1925, we will be pleased to make you the most favorable terms which market conditions will permit, with no commission or no other charge. We will pay you the highest current quotations for your 4 per cent bonds, or will, if you desire, be glad to make definite offerings of other securities of the highest grade, including foreign government issues, any of which will pay a much better income return than your 4 per cent bonds, and some of the soundest of which can be had at par or below.

Will you kindly let us know if you would like to take advantage of our facilities in making a change in your government holdings, in view of the unusual opportunity which is at the moment presented.

Very truly yours,
Signed: J. A. VANDERLIP,
R.
Vice-President.

The National Bank of Chicago
Chicago, February 10, 1903
Hon. John Sparks, Governor,
Carson City, Nevada.

Dear Sir:—

I have yours of the 6th and we think there can be no question of the desirability of the Massachusetts State bonds to which you refer, as an investment. During the last year we placed over $1,000,000 of these bonds with clients, who wished an absolutely good bond that would pay a little better than the government issues. There is no difficulty in point of security between the various loans issued by the state but as 3 and 3 1/4 per cents. They are selling at the present time to net the investor about 3.05 per cent.

We have the very best facilities for dealing in these bonds, and will be pleased to have your order, should you feel inclined to favor us.

Very truly yours,
Signed: E. K. BOISOT, Manager.

The Chemical National Bank,
New York, February 14, 1903
Hon. John Sparks,
Carson City, Nevada.

Dear Sir:—

Acknowledging your letter of the 6th inst., we wish to say that as this bank is not particularly familiar with Massachusetts State bonds, inasmuch as securities of that kind rarely find their way into the hands of New York banks, we wrote to a firm of bankers in Boston who have been depositors with us for many years and who are people of high standing at that center. We enclose herewith their reply to our inquiry, which we think will give you the information you desire. If their letter should be the means of inducing you to favor them with an order we wish to say that the last paragraph of their letter may be ignored by you, as this bank expects no commission for a slight service of this kind, although the suggestion of Messrs. E. H. Collins & Sons is perfectly proper and customary with such houses.

Trusting that the communication of our Boston friends will be of service to you, we beg to remain,
Yours very respectfully,
Signed: JAS. L. PARSON,
Assistant Cashier.

JAPS AND CHINAMEN.

It is said that Commissioner-General Sargent of the Immigration Bureau has discovered a strong opposition on the Pacific Coast to the immigration of the Japanese. This indicates that he has only lately learned that such opposition exists, but we, who live here, know full well that the feeling has prevailed for a long time. The Japanese are more progressive than the Chinese, but as the San Francisco Chronicle observes, they are quite as unassimilable.

The question of assimilability though is really of minor consequence so far as the feelings of our people are concerned. There are social considerations involved, but they arise mainly from the character of the competition in the labor field. The competition of the Jap is essentially the same as that of the Chinaman, and in almost, if not quite, equal degree it undermines American labor.

Many sentimentalists affect to regard the question of wages as a sordid one. These people have not looked very far into the subject, or they would know that wages, the amount that the American laborer can earn, affect the entire social fabric in this country, and consequently the morals of the nation.

High wages will not make all workingmen and women good and virtuous, nor will low wages make them all bad and depraved. But, speaking generally, we find the most vice and depravity where the most extreme poverty prevails. In such an atmosphere the young are permitted to grow up with very little of either moral or intellectual training, and in many cases their sufferings lead them into crime or vice. A hungry child is more likely to steal a loaf of bread than is one with a fully satisfied stomach. The working people constitute the great mass of our population, and whatever reduces the measure of their compensation lowers them in a social way by increasing the temptation to do wrong, and restricting their opportunities for mental or moral improvement.

Incidentally the social question involved in oriental competition is very important, although in most cases, perhaps, it is somewhat remote. But every workingman knows that the competition of cheap labor makes his lot harder, and he is equally opposed to such competition whether it comes from a Jap or a Chinaman. This consideration shows the un wisdom of any attempt at American expansion into the Orient. It either means direct Asiatic industrial competition or it means the holding of millions of people in subjugation in a manner altogether out of harmony with our system of Republican government

WHEN LYING IS JUSTIFIABLE.

A PAMPHLET just issued by a Frenchman, and a clergyman at that, gives detailed information as to when lying is permissible. He argues that it is proper to lie when a lie will save the reputation of the liar or prevent him from undergoing punishment; that a witness may lie under oath if he has reason to believe the criminal against whom he is to testify will do him bodily harm.

So the list is gone over, and we find, when we have finished it, that, according to this Frenchman, lying is justifiable under almost every conceivable circumstance. Strangely enough, he forgets to mention the one point on which all gentlemen have agreed. That it is always permissible to lie if it will save the reputation of a woman. But perhaps he took it for granted that all his readers would agree on that proposition, so that it was not worth while to mention.

We hardly believe that the Frenchman will make many converts to his creed. The man who wants to tell a lie to gain some advantage over his fellow man is going to tell the lie without waiting for authority from France and without the consent of any nation on earth. The individual who is strictly honest and honorable and above board in his dealings will stick to the truth regardless of any false doctrines that may from time to time be promulgated.

A wise old philosopher said a good many years ago: "All men are liars." The world hasn't changed so much since his time. His statement is not literally true, because now and then we find men who refuse to be guilty of any deceptions whatever. Most of them, though, are liars, pessimistic though the statement may be and will be to the end of the world.

Some men will lie to save themselves or somebody else; some lie for pecuniary profit, some lie for the mere lust of lying when the truth would answer for their purpose as well or better than the lie. The natural liar don't go around hunting for justification, and if he is an adept, when he is caught in one lie he tells as many more as he thinks necessary to get himself out of the first.

There are justifiable lies, plenty of them, but we shall make no effort here to distinguish them from the lies that are unjustifiable. All men are the keepers of their own consciences and will have to decide for themselves as to which is the best course to pursue. It is as impossible to lay down rules for lying as it is to lay down rules for the use of intoxicants.—Salt Lake Herald.

GENERAL MILES is receiving a great deal of harsh criticism from Republican sources for his report about the conditions in the Philippine Islands, wherein he claims that the war is not ended by a long shot, and finds that extreme cruelty has been practiced on the natives by some officers. The Republican papers seem to believe the party will lose some votes on account of the report, and, of course, any man who will cause the party to lose votes deserves the severest condemnation. The party does not seem to be sorry it is so, but they are very sorry Miles said it is so. It is entirely new philosophy, with the Republican party as its parent, that a man who exposes a Republican criminal is worse than the criminal.—Alt Chartz in Gardnerville Courier.

A WRITER in the Chicago Chronicle undertook to defend the Standard Oil king, saying that "Rokefeller's business is the result of hard work, ability, and foresight, and considering his power, he takes less advantage of the people than any other monopolist." Commenting upon this interesting defense, Mr. S. H. Wallace says: "When a man's business is such that it will make him a hundred millionaire in thirty years there is something radically wrong with the industrial conditions of the country. Surely some people are getting vastly more of this world's goods than rightfully belongs to them."

THE prominence of Indiana and Ohio in the Postoffice Department scandals the past three years is worth noting. Neely and Perry Heath were from Indiana; Mr. Tyner is from Indiana; Mr. Barrett is from Indiana, and Mr. Miller, charged with bribery, is from Indiana. Major Rathbone and Mr. Machen hail from Ohio. It would be cruel to say that here we have the Indiana or Ohio "idea." Yet Indiana and Ohio of late have rather monopolized this sort of thing.—Springfield Republican.

SCHOOLS more than anything else will help to suppress Kentucky mountain feuds, says General Howard. Education is a great thing, and its lack is one of the most conspicuous things among the mountain whites. Yet if education alone is to be depended upon we fear the feuds will continue.

LOCAL MINES AND MINING

PROGRESS OF AN IMPORTANT

INDUSTRY IN NEVADA.

New Discoveries, Development Work, Shipment and Reduction of Ore Reported From Every County.

Dr. C. C. Cleaves has sold to Reno parties a group claims adjoining the Alabama-Tonopah, and a company to be known as the Esmeralda Mining company is being organized to work the property.

The Montana-Tonopah company has received the returns from the Salt Lake Smelter on a twenty-six ton lot of ore recently shipped. The ore was in two lots, first and second class, about equally divided, giving a net return of $9,000. This is the first lot of ore reduced from the Montana and will be followed by regular shipments.

During the week there has been two mining sales. W. H. Clark sold to Simon Bamberger a half interest in the Great Eastern Paint mine, situated on Davis street, and all of the Richman mine, formerly the No. 9 close to the summit of Meadow Valley street, as well as a half interest in the Black Prince, back of the Raymond & Ely to T. J. Osborne, for which it is stated that he received the sum of $2,000 in all. Mr. T. J. Osborne sold to Simon Bamberger all of the Black Prince mine, the consideration not being known.—Lincoln County Record.

A company to be known as the Tonopah Bureka Mining and Development company has been incorporated under the laws of Arizona for the purpose of working a group of five claims situated just to the eastward of the Tonopah-Great Western. L. L. Muehlth has been elected president and J. Galingier secretary. There is renewed activity in this vicinity, owing to the excellent showing made by the Tonopah-West.

The mine owners of Lincoln county will soon receive from the Nevada commissioners to the Louisiana World's Fair blank assay certificates to designate the value of the ore which it is hoped every mine owner will do the best to comply with so that Nevada's mineral exhibit will be the best one at the fair.

The Mohave Miner says that a suit is now being tried in Philadelphia to quiet title to the mining properties in Eldorado Canyon that have been held for years past by Joseph Wharton. Recently parties have set up an adverse claim to the mines and the matter will not have to be settled in court. The mines have been the greatest producers in southern Nevada during the past thirty odd years, and but recently new ore bodies were opened up in the Wall street property. The case involves a large amount of money and will be bitterly fought.

James L. Parsons, Ass't Cashier,
Chemical National Bank,
New York City,
Dear Sir—

Replying to your favor of the 11th inst., and the inquiry you have received from Governor Sparks of Nevada, in relation to State of Massachusetts bonds we would advise as follows

The State of Massachusetts Metropolitan Water Loan Bonds are of the following maturities

July, 1935 January, 1933
July 1939 January, 1941

January, 1942
The maturities of the Metropolitan Park Bonds are as follows

January 1934 January, 1936
January 1937 July, 1938

All of the above bear interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per annum. There are a few bonds outstanding known as the Metropolitan Park Bonds, that bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum and these mature

July, 1939 July, 1940,
January, 1941

These bonds are issued in either coupon or registered form to suit the purchaser and if in coupon form can be exchanged at any time prior to their maturity for registered bonds, if it is desired

The principal and semi-annual interest are payable at the office of the State Treasurer in this city, except in the case of registered bonds, where checks are forwarded to the holders to offset maturing interest or principal

At this writing there is a very limited supply of both the 3 per cent and 3 1/2 per cent bonds in the market. We can however make you the following offering, subject to the usual condition of prior sale

$25,000 3 1/2 due July, 1939 price 100
and interest

$50,000 3 1/2 due July, 1939, price
100 1/4 and interest

The above are coupon bonds

$100,000 registered 3 1/2, due July, 1935 price 100 and interest

We think the last lot might possibly be increased to $150,000 or $200-000, if your client wished that limit and was willing to take the registered form of bonds

Should you obtain an order for any amount of Massachusetts securities, we will be very glad to assist you in filling it and will try and quote price that will allow a commission to you for your trouble

Thanking you for the inquiry we are

MORE ABOUT GOLD DOLLARS

Coinage for the World's Fair is of Gold and Silver.

A report quoting numismatic authority, that the Louisiana Purchase dollars are of silver has gained considerable circulation. It emanated, rather strange to say from Washington. It is coupled with the criticism that the price of three dollars in currency for a souvenir dollar in silver is excessive, and the prediction is made by the numismatist quoted that the silver dollars although of distinctive coinage, cannot command this premium. The Louisiana Purchase Centennial dollars are of gold. No gold dollars had been coined in this country since 1890, until congress authorized the Louisiana Purchase Centennial dollars. The coinage of gold dollars began in 1849. Between that date and 1890 there were coined 19,499,337 gold dollars. In 1890 congress repealed the act authorizing dollar coinage from gold, so that it was necessary to have a specie act of congress for this Louisiana Purchase Centennial issue

It is the testimony of the leading numismatists of the country that the standard price for any one of the ordinary gold dollars, in good condition, issued before 1890, is $2.00, as a minimum. There are gold dollars of years when the coinage was small which commanded much higher premiums.
Some of these gold dollars sell from $25.00 to $50.00 each

The issue of Exposition gold dollars is limited by act of congress to 250-000, one-half of which bear the head of Thomas Jefferson and the other half of William McKinley. The first of these dollars were received from the mint just before the holidays last winter. The experience of the exposition management in the disposition of them has afforded interesting information in regard to coin collection. There was considerable local curiosity and demand for these coins when they were received, and some thousands of them were taken immediately. Since the supply of the first demand there has been steady call for the coins, nearly every mail bringing applications for them. The call is not confined to his country. It shows no decrease. Most of the collectors wish the coins in pairs, so that practically 125,000 purchasers will exhaust the supply. The heads of McKinley and Jefferson, from which the McKinley and Jefferson gold dollars were made, were taken from two of the best medals in the possession of the director of the mint. The Jefferson medal used, according to the medallic history of the United States, was engraved by John Reich, who was for a time, connected with the mint at Philadelphia.

Hedded in 1833. The McKinley medal, which is considered by the late president's friends to be the best portraiture of Mr. McKinley, was engraved by the present engraver of the mint, Charles E. Barber, who had sittings for the purpose given him by the late president

THE KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN

SILVER JUBILEE CONVENTION HELD.

There are 20,000 Persons in Attendance at the Meeting Being Held in Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 22.—The silver jubilee convention of the Knights of St. John began in this city today, and will continue until Thursday evening. It is estimated that not fewer than 20,000 persons are in attendance. Delegations from all the states and from several of the provinces of Canada are present. California, New Mexico, Colorado and other distant states have sent teams to compete in the prize drills, which are an important feature of the international gathering. Dayton, Ohio, where the order originated, has sent nearly 5,000 representatives. Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburg, Cleveland, St. Louis, Erie and numerous other cities are likewise represented by unusually large delegations.

The morning began with a visit in a body to St. Joseph's Cathedral, where pontifical high mass was celebrated by Archbishop Moeller. The religious services concluded the delegates, adjourned to the board of trade auditorium, where the formal opening exercises were held. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Nash, Mayor Jeffrey and others. The responses were by Henry J. Fries, of Erie, supreme president of the order, and Mrs. Louise Zang, of Columbus, supreme president of the Ladies' auxiliary. This afternoon there was a great parade of the delegates, more than 10,000 men in uniform being in line.

Tomorrow the convention will get down to business, of which there is a lot to attend to, and the election of officers may take place late in the evening. In the afternoon the prize drills will begin at Neil park.

KING HONORS AMERICAN

New York Architect Receives Gold Medal From Edward VII.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: LONDON, June 22.—At the annual meeting today of the Royal Institute of British Architects Charles F. McKim, the celebrated New York architect, was formally invested with the Royal Gold Medal for the Protection of Architecture. The investiture was attended with simple but interesting ceremonies and took place in the presence of a notable gathering. Tomorrow Mr. McKim will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the institute, and to which Ambassador Choate and other men of prominence have been invited.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Charles F. McKim, who was today presented with the King's Gold Medal in connection with the work of the Royal Institute of British Architects, is a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White of this city, and an architect of renown. He was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, in 1845. His first outlined study of architecture was at the Lawrence Scientific School at Harvard University in 1866 and 1867. He then went to Paris and spent three years at the Ecole des Beaux Arts. Soon after that he returned to New York and became a member of the well known firm with which he is still connected. He is the designer of the Columbia College University buildings, the Public Library of Boston and other prominent buildings throughout the country.

BIG GATHERING OF ELKS

State Convention is Being Held At Waco, Texas.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: WACO, Texas, June 22.—Waco is garbed in festive attire in honor of the members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks whose state convention opened today under most favorable auspices. Delegations from the local lodges throughout the state were present. When the gathering was formally opened this afternoon by President W. H. Patterson of Dallas, Mayor Sanford delivered the address of welcome. J. L. Jameson of Austin responded and the business of the convention was taken up. Late this afternoon Grand Exalted Ruler Cronk of Nebraska's scheduled to address the convention and officers for the ensuing year will be chosen. Tomorrow is the day set for the big parade which is to be one of the star events of the gathering. Business sessions will also be held during the day and between times there will be smokers, receptions, drives about the city and numerous other features of entertainment arranged by the Waco members.

Projected Southern Road
SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 22.—Though of direct confirmation can be had from William F. Harrity or the other Philadelphia capitalists supposed to be interested in the projected Oklahoma and Rio Grande Southern railroad the report that such a line is contemplated is generally credited in financial circles here.

The proposed road would take rank among the most important in the southwest. It will extend, according to report, from the heart of Oklahoma through the state of Texas to the Rio Grande border, with a connection in Mexico and Tampico or other desirable port. The line would open up a large area of rich country and would touch Fort Worth, San Antonio and other important points.

TYPOTHETA MEETING

Seventeenth Annual Convention at Atlantic City.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 22.—The seventeenth annual convention of the United Typothetae of America will be held here this week. There are about 200 members here now, and it is expected that there will be as many more when the convention begins business tomorrow. The association is made up of the employing printers of the country, and nearly all the leading firms are represented. Among the important problems to come up for consideration are the relations of the employers with labor, with various branches of the supply trade and with the consumers of its products. The National Electrotypes' association will be in annual meeting here at the same time and a joint session of the two bodies for the discussion of matters of mutual interest will be held.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 22.—The annual convention of the International League of Press Clubs, which will be held here from Tuesday to Friday of this week, promises to be one of the most successful in the league's history. The delegates will number several hundred, representing press clubs in all parts of the United States and Canada. The first business session will be held tomorrow afternoon. The committee in charge of the Journalists' Home Fund will report gratifying progress during the past year. The newspaper men of Philadelphia have joined with those of Atlantic City in preparing entertainment for the guests.

THE SHORT-LINE DEAL

Clark and Harriman Close Deal for 450 Miles of Railroad.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: NEW YORK, June 22.—In railroad and financial circles it is expected that the deal between Senator Clark and E. H. Harriman, by which the San Pedro road is to acquire 450 miles of the Oregon Short Line, will be closed in New York within a day or two. A meeting to ratify the sale is to be held this week and will be attended by Senator Clark, Senator Kearns and other directors and officials of the roads concerned. Considerable interest is manifested in the deal in Wall street because of the effect it will have on the plans of George Gould for the completion of his transcontinental line.

Will Fight for Statehood
SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL: GUTHRIE, Okla., June 22.—The territorial republican central committee is in session here today for the purpose of discussing the measures necessary in the fight for statehood. It is expected that the committee will declare unconstitutionally for immediate statehood, separate from Indian Territory.

RICH GIFTS FOR A BRIDE

Automobiles, Gold and Precious Stones for the Wife.

Special to The Journal:
LONDON, June 22.—It has been some time since London society witnessed a more fashionable wedding than that which took place in the Guards' Chapel today when Miss Irene Murray became the bride of Lieutenant Marshall G. Roberts of the Scots Guards. Lieutenant Roberts, the bridegroom, is a former New Yorker, and the wedding was attended by all the prominent members of the American colony in London, including the members of the American embassy, Mrs. Adair, Mrs. Ronalds, Lady Naylor-Landale, the Countess of Craven and many others.

The bride's wedding gifts were truly magnificent. In addition to a ten horse power Panhard automobile, Lieutenant Roberts presented his bride with a superb pearl and diamond tiara. Overshadowing all, however, was the gift of Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts, the bridegroom's mother, who presented her daughter-in-law with the $110,000 pearl necklace recently purchased at the auction sale of the jewels of Lady Henry Gordon Lennox.

Christian Workers in Session
Special to The Journal:
DES MOINES, Ia., June 22.—The Christian churches of Iowa began their annual convention here today and will be in session through the greater part of the week. Today was devoted to a review of the business of the Christian Women's Board of Missions. The convention proper will open tomorrow evening at which time there will be a report by B. S. Denny of Des Moines, the corresponding secretary, and an address by T. A. Abbott of Kansas City. A number of other noted speakers of the church will be heard during the week.

A Workingman's Club
Another good big meeting of Carpenter's Union No. 971 of Reno, was held last evening. Notwithstanding the charter is closed, and the initiation fee is $10, applications still come in. The boys know where to find their friends and are assured of a good time at the meetings of the union.

It is the only social club in town for workingmen and the boys can spend an hour or two there to great advantage and cheaper than any other place in Reno. All men of the craft should not miss the good times every Monday evening.
